

Ike Attacks Record Of Truman Regime

By JAMES DEVLIN

En Route With Eisenhower (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower campaigned on the Eastern Seaboard today after a stepped-up attack against the Truman administration and blasts at "godless communism."

With President Truman verbally slugging at him, the Republican presidential candidate is hitting back at the Democratic handling of foreign and domestic affairs during the past seven years.

Eisenhower was scheduled to travel today from New York to Wilmington, Del., by train and then work his way back in a motor caravan through New Jersey in his second visit to that state in two days.

The general yesterday virtually ignored Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, to rap Truman's record. He hit at spending, corruption, Korea and the lack of "a better peace."

He told a cheering crowd of 5,000 that filled the Paterson, N. J., armory that "the important point is that we have no pride in our government."

"We cannot," he said, "turn to our children and say, 'Those men and women up there represent all that is best in American public life.'"

"We have the record of the loss of China, the emergency action in Greece and in Turkey, and the airlift to save Berlin, and, finally, Korea, which unhappily, still goes on."

He said it would be unfair to say that there could be a perfect peace when "the godless doctrine of communism" commands the strength it does.

"What we want to know, though," he said, "and what we have a right to demand is: why have we not a better peace than we have? Because on the other side of the ledger, we must remember this: the total resources available to the free world—the material, intellectual, scientific and productive resources, and the human resources

Truman Praises Up His Cabinet In New England

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (P)—President Truman pushed his drive for Democratic votes in New England with increasing intensity today after denouncing criticism of his administration as "misrepresentation" and "so many lies."

Encouraged by large and friendly crowds in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, he set up another heavy schedule of talks taking him into Boston for a major speech at 9:30 p.m., EST, in Symphony Hall.

Gets Big Audience

The President drew about 50,000 in Hartford, capital city of Connecticut; 10,000 each in the Massachusetts cities of Worcester and Springfield; and police estimated 25,000 cheered him on his way through the streets of Manchester, N. H.

Truman chose Clinton, Mass., home town of his appointments secretary, Matthew J. Connelly, where thousands turned out along the railroad track, to give a run-down last night of members of his Cabinet and other top officers.

He told the crowd, in one of 15 speeches, that his "ability, if I have any," to make the presidency function, "has been, I think, a talent for picking the right man for the right place."

Tribute To Acheson

He praised each of his Cabinet in turn, paid tribute to his White House staff and especially to Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman for what he said was

Britain Delays No. 2 Atom Blast

LONDON (P)—The Daily Express said today that Prime Minister Churchill has put off exploding Britain's second atom bomb for a few months because the first blast a fortnight ago was so successful.

The Express added that Dr. William Penney, Britain's chief atom scientist, had canceled his reservation for a return plane trip to Australia early next month. Penney came here two days ago from the first explosion in the Monte Bello Islands, off Northwest Australia.

His return reservation and similar bookings for atom expert Sir John Cockcroft and Atomic Energy Controller Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan had sparked reports—not confirmed officially—that Britain's second big blast would be going off soon.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Supply, which controls Britain's atomic energy program, said Penney had canceled his return trip for secret reasons.

Taft Predicts Ballot Victory For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today he has found "the great majority of the people really do 'like Ike'" and predicted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would win the election.

The Ohio senator, who was Eisenhower's chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination, said that after three weeks of campaigning he had become convinced Eisenhower's "very wide personal popularity" would be a key factor in a GOP triumph.

Carries Congress Too

Writing in Pathfinder magazine, Taft said that if Eisenhower wins, "he will carry with him both the House and Senate."

The Senate race will be close, the Ohioan added, but an Eisenhower victory probably would mean the Republicans would pick up nine seats there and that this would offset some probable losses. The present Senate lineup is 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans.

Taft said he had not campaigned in the East at the time he wrote the article. But he predicted the GOP would carry New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut and Maryland.

He added, however, that Eisenhower could win without New York "particularly if he can add Virginia, Tennessee and Texas to his

Vishinsky Keeps U. N. Assembly Waiting For His Verbal Fireworks

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky kept the United Nations waiting today for the Red fireworks he is expected to touch off in replying to U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's plea for a concerted U. N. effort to end the Korean War.

The Soviet foreign minister was not scheduled to speak today, and he told newsmen he did not know when he would address the General Assembly.

"Maybe never," he added with a wry grin to the journalists.

Won't Steal Thunder

Poland was the first Iron Curtain country listed for the assembly's general debate today, drawing fourth place in a tentative lineup of five countries to speak. But Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Shrzezewski was not expected to steal Vishinsky's thunder by replying to the major American foreign policy speech Acheson made to the assembly yesterday.

Diplomats assumed the Pole would stick to a text prepared well in advance but considered he might indicate whether the Communist line on Korea would be conciliatory or antagonistic to the West.

Acheson Asks Solidarity

Before these speeches, the assembly was to take up the proposal to include on its agenda the Asian-Arab bloc's charge of racial discrimination in South Africa. South African Ambassador G. P. Joste was expected to speak for an hour against inclusion of the item, arguing that the matter is his country's own affair and not within U. N. jurisdiction.

Acheson in his speech yesterday urged "every member of the United Nations . . . to support the

Wrangle Holds Up WSB Action On Wage Boost

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON (P)—A protest strike of 50,000 miners crept through the nation's coal fields and producers pressed for price increases today as the Wage Stabilization Board, plagued by dissension, scheduled another attempt to decide the legality of the recent soft coal pay boost.

Price officials said the Office of Price Stabilization is awaiting WSB action before considering officially the many requests received from producers for a ceiling price increase.

Up To $1.90 A Day

Labor members of the WSB, who angrily rejected a "suggestion" from Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam that the WSB postpone its study of the case for several days, were ready to give their approval to the $1.90-a-day wage boost.

The increase, negotiated by John L. Lewis last month, cannot be paid until the WSB gives its approval because it is nearly twice

Change Needed, Says Roosevelt

DETROIT (P)—John Roosevelt, 36-year old son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, last night campaign here for the presidency of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Making his first speech in behalf of the Republican candidate, the youngest son of the late President told two audiences that his father once warned of the dangers of one party remaining in office for too long a time.

Roosevelt quoted an address made by his father while governor of New York:

"Even a wisely led political party, given long tenure of office, finally fails to express the will of the people. It ceases to be an effective instrument of government."

"It is far better for such a political party, certainly better for the state, that it should be relegated to the role of critic, and that the opposing political party should assume the reins of government."

Roosevelt classified himself as an independent voter and said he voted for Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, but said he voted for his father in 1944 against Dewey.

Attacking President Truman's administration, Roosevelt told a Negro audience:

"It seems to me that what my father started in Washington as a long range program for the advancement and benefit of all people has now degenerated into a shabby instrument for the advancement and benefit of the administration leaders and their cronies."

EGAD! THE BALLOT BOX IS SUCH A PRECIOUS PREROGATIVE, EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD USE IT! EVEN MY BROTHER JAKE KNOWS THAT—HAR-RUMPH—HE ALWAYS TRIES TO VOTE TWICE!

See You at the Polls!

Ike On Corkscrews

GENOA, Italy (P)—One hundred cases of corkscrews topped by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's head carved in wood are en route to New York from here.

The corkscrews were turned out in the Gardena Valley of Northern Italy's Tyrol, where thousands of peasants specialize in wood-carving. An American firm commissioned them for use in connection with the Republican presidential campaign.

Plot To Kill U. S. Ambassador Foiled

SAIGON, Indochina (P)—Indochinese police announced today that the killing of two members of the Communist-led Vietminh four days ago had foiled a plot to assassinate U. S. Ambassador Donald R. Heath.

Police said the two assassins were shot a few hours before they were to make their attempt on the American envoy, who since he came here two years ago has watched over the U. S. program of military aid to the French and the Viet Nam government they are sponsoring against the Vietminh.

The police added that many Vietminh agents had succeeded in getting jobs in the American Embassy here and that 10 such suspects had been arrested recently.

Heath received several threatening letters last month and shortly after the local police arrested a Vietminh messenger carrying instructions for the ambassador's slaying to an "assassination committee." At that time, the guard of Indochinese police and American Marines at Heath's home was reinforced.

Last Monday, the official account said, police swooped down on a hut where Nguyen Van Thu and other terrorists were meeting. Van

Cafe Man Bites Off Ear Lobe; Pays $4,542

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (P)—Restaurantier Mike Miaooulis paid $4,542 here yesterday for a left ear lobe—one that belonged to his friend, Angel P. Gallis.

Gallis asked $25,000 damages for the ear lobe which he claimed Miaooulis bit off during a fight last March at a Mardi Gras dance in the Greek Community Center.

A Circuit Court jury awarded him only $4,542.

Witnesses said Miaooulis and Gallis had been old friends.

Miaooulis pleaded self-defense to the charges of assault and battery and mayhem.

GET OUT AND VOTE—Veteran political analysts expect an all-time record vote registration this year which should set a record for the number voting in an election. Above Newschart shows that population of voting age has increased much faster than the number actually voting since 1932. Due to the high registration this year experts estimate that between 55 and 60 million people will cast their ballot this year.

Gov. Williams Talks On 'Escanaba Mess' In Swipes At Alger

(By The Associated Press)

The son of a former Democratic president held the Republican stage in Detroit overnight, but he didn't steal the whole picture from battling state candidates.

John Roosevelt, 36 and youngest son of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, spoke to a Negro and Hungarian audiences in support of General Dwight Eisenhower, the GOP presidential candidate.

Inefficiency Charged

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, meanwhile, attacked his Republican opponent, Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, at Pontiac. Williams charged that Alger had permitted "inefficiency and slipshod management," as well as "Republican corruption" in his office.

Williams challenged his Republican opponent to explain what the governor termed "the mess in Escanaba, the mess in Benton Harbor and the mess in the office of the secretary of state."

He also charged that secretary of state branch offices throughout the state were being used as Alger campaign headquarters, and added:

"There is evidence that the mixing of state business with politics in those offices has resulted in loose and inefficient operation without adequate safeguard for the public money."

Embezzlement Mentioned

Williams cited as an example the case of the Escanaba office where the manager was convicted of embezzling $800 to $1,100 and sent to prison. The governor hinted more money actually was involved and charged that Alger could not determine the exact amount.

Alger renewed his charge at Grand Ledge that Williams' Democratic administration had brought Michigan "to the verge of bankruptcy."

"Michigan," the GOP candidate said, "has wiped out a surplus of $24,000,000 under Williams and run up a deficit of between $65,000,000 and $70,000,000, and faces the prospect of going broke by next Jan. 15 when it will have obligations of $70,000,000 with only $20,000,000 in actual cash on hand."

Reds Stopped Dead By Allies In Korea

By STAN CARTER

SEOUL (P)—Allied soldiers hurled back bloody but waning Chinese Communist attacks on two central Korean hills last night and today, adding hundreds to record 1952 Red casualty tolls.

The Eighth Army said U. S. troops since Tuesday morning had killed or wounded 3,750 Chinese on Triangle Hill, north of Kumwha. Dead Communists littered the frost-whitened battlefield.

That is the Allied-held height where A. P. correspondent Milo Farneti said 1,500 Reds launched six futile assaults between 8 p. m. Thursday and dawn today. He said the U. S. defenders killed or wounded 630 Reds.

Hard-fighting South Korean soldiers, backed by tank and mortar fire, repulsed about 700 Reds who simultaneously attacked Sniper Ridge, an Allied-controlled hill two miles east of Triangle.

Red casualties were mounting at a rate approaching that of the bloody week of Oct. 8-14, which the Eighth Army estimated cost the Communists 10,186 soldiers. The total—highest for a single week since last November—included 5,868 killed, 4,258 wounded and 60 captured.

The report said most of these casualties were inflicted at White Horse Mountain, more than 15 miles west of Triangle Hill.

Communist casualties the first week of October were listed as 7,528 killed, wounded and captured, making a total of 17,714 for the first two weeks of the month.

Husband Finds Wife Raped And Strangled To Death In Detroit

DETROIT (P)—A housewife was found raped and strangled in her basement apartment on East Grand Boulevard early today.

The body of Mrs. Mary Ann McAfee, 43, was found on the living room floor by her husband John, on his return home from his night shift job.

McAfee, shocked at the discovery at first was too hysterical even to give his own name, police said.

Mrs. McAfee was last alive about 11 o'clock last night when McAfee left for work.

New York Firm To Finance Big Mackinac Span

DETROIT (P)—A start next spring on bridging the Straits of Mackinac at an estimated cost of $95,000,000 was predicted by the Mackinac Bridge Authority today.

The prediction came along with an announcement of a New York firm's agreement to underwrite revenue bonds for the vast project. Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said that "barring unforeseen circumstances" engineers should start work on final designs for the five-mile bridge this winter.

Bankers Underwrite Bonds

Brown added that by spring the boring crews "should be launching their equipment in the Straits."

Brown said it was "reasonably certain" money for the project would be available within the next six months.

This was in connection with his announcement that B. J. Van Ingen and Co., New York investment bankers, has agreed to underwrite the revenue bonds.

Today's was the first specific announcement that the bridge appeared certain of becoming an actuality.

For years a man-built span across the famous straits dividing upper and lower Michigan has been dreamed of.

Tribute To Both Parties

In his announcement Brown said: "A bridge across the Straits of Mackinac is closer to reality today than ever before in history."

Brown said members of the bridge authority took "great pride" in the announcement. He added that it was a "tribute" to both the Democrat and Republican parties "that they have endorsed this project."

The Authority released a "fact sheet" on the bridge's preliminary design, indicating it will be 26,185 feet long overall and 34 feet wide.

Teamsters Will Back Stevenson

LOS ANGELES (P)—The AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, after adopting a resolution endorsing Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman, set about today to elect its own president at the 16th annual convention.

The endorsement of the Democratic standard bearers came yesterday, together with approval of the Democratic platform. The resolution paid tribute to Stevenson's policies, which the teamsters said closely followed those of the AFL.

Stevenson spoke briefly to the 2,000 delegates, telling them that "I am glad to feel men like you are enlisted on the same side, and I think you know where I stand and where the Democratic party stands."

Teamster President Daniel J. Tobin, whose age has been estimated at from 77 to 85, had led the 14 million member teamsters' union for 45 years. His retirement has been widely predicted and his most likely successor is Dave Beck of Seattle, executive vice president and director of Western locals.

The nominations will be dropped into the box today.

Sen. Moody To Speak Tonight

Democratic precinct workers of Delta county tonight will be host to U. S. Senator Blair Moody of Detroit at a dinner meeting at the House of Ludington where Sen. Moody will speak in behalf of his candidacy and the Democratic ticket.

The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock and Sen. Moody's talk at 7:30 will be carried by radio station WDBC.

Atty. Wheaton L. Strom of Escanaba will introduce the speaker.

Now on a campaign swing through Northern Michigan, Sen. Moody will be accompanied by Robert J. Baker, Adrian, Democratic candidate for auditor general; William Johnson of Ironwood, Democratic candidate for state treasurer; and John Connelly, Detroit, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

Prentiss M. Brown Jr., St. Ignace, Democratic candidate for 11th district congressman, and Al Phillips, St. Ignace, Democratic candidate for 30th district state senator, also are to be here for the meeting.

Other Democratic candidates, including those seeking office in Delta county, will be presented at the dinner meeting.

Home Extension Enrolls 500

About 500 Delta county women are currently enrolled in home extension course that will teach them new ways of keeping their homes in apple-pie order, caring for their families' clothes and preparing inviting foods for their tables.

They are all members of 38 home extension clubs organized in the rural and urban sectors of the county under home demonstration agent Ingrid Tervonen.

The county extension clubs have a history that goes back 25 years to the time the Bark River and Rapid River clubs were established. The most recent addition is the Groos club which was organized last night.

Disciple Training
Home extension works on the principle of disciple training. The club leaders meet with Miss Tervonen who instructs them in the current project. They then take the course to their individual clubs, in turn instructing their friends in what they have learned. Club members are now working on a Christmas gift lesson, making, in one phase, stuffed animals for holiday giving.

The courses they will take in the remainder of the season include the making of table decorations; preparation of foods for grown-ups, with an eye toward calorie count; care of floor coverings and hard surface floors; and simpler and easier housecleaning.

Sewing Machine Clinic
In addition, special lessons will be given during the coming season for persons interested in learning something of the specialized work covered.

The first of these will be given next week when a Michigan State College extension specialist visits here to conduct a sewing machine clinic designed to teach the women how to clean, adjust and care for their sewing machines.

Later, special courses will be offered in slip cover making and cotton dressmaking. A housing clinic is scheduled in February for women who want help in planning a remodeling of their homes, Miss Tervonen announced.

An extra project, a home nursing class, will be offered this fall at the request of many home extension members. A Red Cross official will conduct the course.

Home extension classes are generally held from October to June, with only special interest lessons being given in the summer.

Send Street Plat Back To Planning Body For Hearing

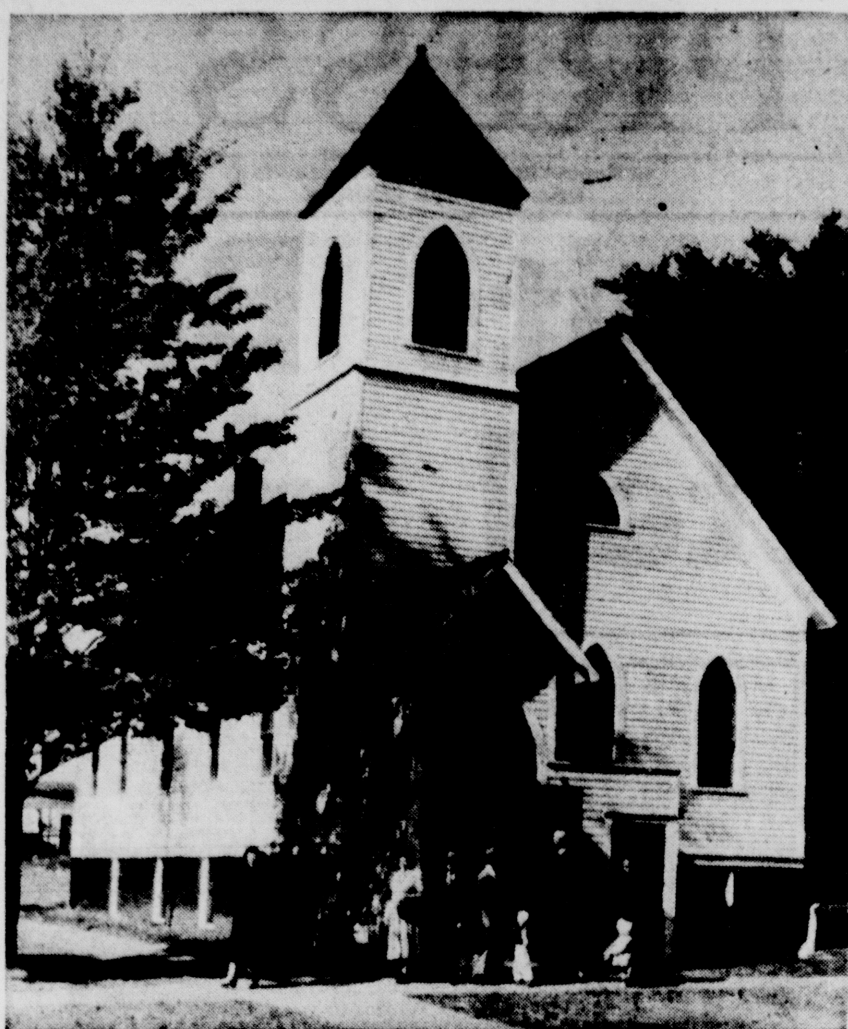

A recommended street and alley plat for an acreage area in the southwest part of the city was referred by City Council last night back to the City Planning Commission for further study and hearing.

The area is between Fifth Avenue South and Eighth Avenue South and between 19th and 23rd Streets South, which is west of Royce Park.

Acceptance of the plat locating streets and alleys in the area was recommended to the Council by the Planning Commission.

Objections to the proposed location of some of the streets was voiced by a delegation of residents and property owners in the area. Included in the group to appear before the Council last night were Earl Faber, Ed Ryan, Francis Lueneberg and John Kidd.

After hearing the objections the Council referred the matter back to the Planning Commission and requested that a hearing be held on the plat be given further study.

Promise Action In Hotel 'Porch' Case

The House of Ludington's brick-in entranceway constructed across the width of the sidewalk despite a city order to stop its construction, was discussed briefly last night by the Escanaba City Council.

Councilman Guy Knutson inquired about "the present status of the structure at the east end of Ludington Street."

Councilman Jacob Bink said he believed the matter was not for the Council but was "up to the law-enforcing agency."

City Manager A. V. Aronson agreed and said that City Attorney James Fitzharris is conferring with the attorney representing the owner of the House of Ludington.

"We will see some definite action within the next ten days," the city manager said.

The program concludes with a service meeting. This item is designed to help Christians in preaching the gospel and will present helpful suggestions to overcoming difficulties encountered in this work.

Demonstration and pantomime will be used to illustrate the various principles thus making the program interesting as well as instructive.

Saturday evening will feature a Circuit Activity meeting at 7 p. m. with the climax on Sunday 3 p. m., when Mr. Worsley delivers a public address "Where Is This World Heading?" The witnesses are making a house to house visit with a personal invitation and are engaged in publicity work on the streets. Mr. Worsley has been a minister with Jehovah's witnesses for 22 years and has recently returned from missionary work in the Caribbean area. Previous to that he has travelled in Africa, Singapore and Argentina. His wide experience with people in many lands and his background of Bible knowledge qualify him to speak authoritatively.

12 Are Accepted For Induction

Twelve Delta County young men passed induction examinations in Milwaukee this month. The Delta County Selective Service office announced today.

All were sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill., to report for training. An Escanaba volunteer, James John Corbett, was named leader of the 60 men leaving Milwaukee for Fort Sheridan last week.

Those inducted were Lorn Earl Johnson, Donald Keith Martin, Robert Francis Pillote, James Diamond Prokos, Vaughn Albert Starnine, Edward Carrington Baker and James John Corbett, of Escanaba; Marvin Lloyd Sigfred, of Stonington; Robert J. Gustafson, of Gladstone; Clayton Joseph Cota, of Garden; Dale Thomas Gibson, of Rapid River; and Robert John Olson, of Bark River.

November Groups Named

In the pre-induction group sent to Milwaukee last week, Joseph Phillip Shedore and Harold Jay Little of Escanaba were among those who passed the examinations. Several of the group of 14 were transferred to other draft areas and reports on others have not been received here.

Fifteen Delta County men will be called for pre-induction examination in November, and 16 for induction. Both groups report Nov. 5 at 2 p. m. at the Escanaba draft board office.

Those named for induction examination are Joseph J. Schleis, John G. Prokos, Willard K. Kempainen (order to Detroit), William J. Cretens, John W. Stoneman and Henry A. Kasbohm, of Escanaba; Frank J. Paquin, Gladstone, Route One; Robert N. Flath, Bark River, Route One; Gordon C. Herbst, Escanaba, Route One; Wilbur V. Oman, Rapid River, Route One; Clayton S. Kanerva and Bernard D. LeClaire, of Rock; Robert J. Lewis, of Ensign; Charles N. Gendron and Richard L. Stadel, of Gladstone, and Thomas K. Way, of Wells.

Four Doctors Included

The pre-induction list for November is as follows:

Archie A. Terrian, Charles T. Beggs, Thomas G. Reidy, John P. Frost, Richard H. DeGrand, Joseph A. Reese, and Patrick E. Chevalier, of Escanaba; Frederick B. McGuigan and Robert L. Cole, of Gladstone, Route One; Carl William Miron (order mailed to Milwaukee) and Lawrence J. Stairs, of Rapid River; Neil L. Hallinan, Rock, Route One; Wayne G. Farley, of Garden; Lawrence E. LaPlant, of Gladstone; and John J. Pepin, of Escanaba, Route One.

The November pre-induction examination list also includes four Delta County doctors. The Delta quota for pre-induction examinations for doctors in November was five, but only four were eligible. Those leaving Nov. 5 for examination in Milwaukee are Doctors Norman L. Lindquist, Donald H. Boyce and Gilbert W. Benson, of Escanaba, and A. B. Bernier, of Nahma.

Enrollment Still Open For Adult Classes Here

Full enrollments for 12 of 19 Escanaba Adult Education classes was reported today by Vernon Ihlenfeldt, director.

Enrollments still can be accepted for French, Spanish, writing, rug-making, knitting, art and shorthand and dictation review.

During the next two weeks, the adult classes will continue to accept enrollments. Classes begin the week of Oct. 20, but the enrollment deadline was moved a week later because of the Kiwanis show.

The adult education unit has formed two classes in welding, machine shop and ceramics, to accommodate heavy enrollments. Two sewing classes also are contemplated, if enrollments continue to increase for it. A Tuesday or Wednesday sewing class could be accommodated.

Persons who would like afternoon classes are asked to contact the director at telephone 2123. Where instructors are not faculty members in the schools, afternoon

Industries Advise City Of Plans For Expansion

Two Escanaba industries last night advised the City Council of their interest in acquiring additional land for expansion purposes.

The T. D. Vinette Company, now located in the 500 block, Ludington, seeks additional space for expansion; and Willis Anthony of Anthony & Company told the Council the company would like more space in the vicinity of its present plant.

The Vinette Company would like to move from its present location to a site on city-owned land between Fifth and Sixth Avenues North and west of US-241. The area is zoned for industry.

Land Now Leased

On recommendation of the City Planning Commission the Council authorized the advertising of the area for sale on bids, with a minimum price to be established by the city assessor.

Willis Anthony told the Council that his company seeks additional space near its present plant, owned by the city and now leased to Harnischfeger Corporation. The Council authorized City Manager A. V. Aronson to arrange a meeting between Anthony and officials of Harnischfeger Corporation in an effort to gain release of the land so it may be sold to Anthony & Company.

Ludington Motors was granted permission by the Council to construct three 30-foot driveways at a proposed service station site at Sixth Avenue North and 21st Street.

Report Is Awaited

Other business before the Council included the following:

Accepted the low bid of Standard Oil Company to supply the city with 10,000 gallons of gasoline at 14.194 cents per gallon. Tabled until next meeting further consideration of street widening at Ludington and 23rd Streets, awaiting a report from the State Highway Department on the total estimated cost of the project.

Authorized the leasing to Nov. 15 of a tract of city-owned land to the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce for use as a rifle range in connection with the Chamber's Red Jacket Jamboree. The site is west of Sheridan Road between the ore docks and a sand fill.

License Transfer

Accepted an offer of $500 from W. A. Collier for the sale to the city of one-thirty-second interest in property in which the city is seeking to clear title. When the title is clear, the city will either sell the area as acreage or as platted lots.

Approved, subject to the approval of the police department, the transfer of a Class C liquor license from Arvo and Violet Erickson to Joseph Skradski and Gus Almonroeder for Sandberg's tavern.

Adopted a resolution establishing precincts for the Nov. 4 election and the pay of election board members. Chairmen will receive $15, inspectors and clerks will be paid $12, and counting board members will be paid $12.50 an hour.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Levy Garsson says she had obtained a Mexican mutual consent divorce from Murray Garsson, the manufacturer convicted in 1947 of bribery and conspiracy in connection with war contracts.

TOUGH KENTUCKIAN—"Born in Kentucky and proud of it," declares Francis Farrell (above), who plays the part of one of the half-dozen men marooned on an isolated island in the ocean with 7,000 Amazon women, in the Escanaba Kiwanis club musical comedy, "This Is Paradise." Farrell, one of the principals in the cast, sings a solo supported by a chorus of 50. The show will open Saturday night for its first performance, with the curtain rising at 7:30. At the two following shows, Monday and Tuesday nights, the starting time will be 8 p. m.

String Music Is Studied By Many

Nearly 100 Escanaba public school students are learning to play stringed instruments. Mrs. Clara Karas Somers, instructor, said today.

Forty of the music students are in the five grade schools, 33 in the Junior High School and 19 in the Senior High School.

Barr school with 12 stringed instrument students leads the five grade schools in number enrolled. There are eight in the Jefferson school, six in the Webster and Washington schools and eight in the Franklin school.

In Spring Festival

An orchestra rehearsal is held once a week in the Junior and Senior High Schools, after school or after supper. Here certain selected band members meet with string players to form a full orchestra, of about 35 members in the Junior High School, and 45 in the Senior High.

As Junior High School players classes could be arranged.

Requests for three courses in addition to the 19 already offered have been received. They are for blue print reading for the building trades, mathematics and public speaking.

become more proficient they are invited to attend rehearsals with the senior orchestra.

The senior orchestra usually presents a Christmas concert, in cooperation with vocal and band students, a mid-winter program and participate in the spring music festival. The orchestra also plays as a pit orchestra for high school plays, operettas and graduation activities.

Program Dec. 17

Escanaba students begin studying the violin while in the third to the sixth grades, and when in the seventh grade may begin cello or bass.

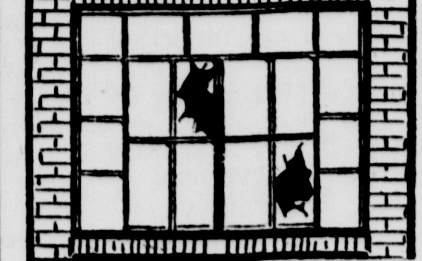

Because the viola is so much larger than the violin, players are drawn from the violin groups in Junior and Senior High School. This usually doesn't give students much difficulty because operation of the violin and viola are similar, with the exception of note reading. Mrs. Somers explains.

Grade school classes meet for a half-hour each week and Junior and Senior High classes for 55 minutes each day. There are four pianists who accompany the players.

The school music department's annual Christmas concert this year will be given Dec. 17, in the Junior High School.

Group Camping Plan Outlined

Group camp facilities at Wells State Park near Cedar River, 30 miles south of Escanaba, are ready for year-around use by schools of the Delta-Menominee area, Ernest Blohm, Lansing, group camp supervisor for the Michigan Department of Conservation, last night told the Delta County Superintendent's Association.

Sixty persons can be accommodated at the group camp, the first of its kind to be improved for year-around use in the Upper Peninsula, Blohm said.

There are many camps of this type now being used by schools in the Lower Peninsula, he added.

This past summer at Wells State Park the group camp buildings have been insulated and heating equipment installed. Toilets and showers, cooking and dining facilities, and a large group meeting room is provided.

The group camp at Wells State Park previously has been used to a rather limited extent by schools of Menominee and Stephenson. One of the group camps, a log cabin, was constructed by boys of the manual training department of the Stephenson schools. Last summer Gwinn schools sent 30 boys and girls to Wells State Park for group camping experience.

George Hughes is park manager. Arrangements for use of the group camp facilities should be made through him. Blohm told the school superintendents at their dinner meeting at the Delta Hotel.

13 American Employees Of UN Show Their Communist Learning

THE insidious boring-in of Communist sympathizers within our governmental structure is fully evidenced by the developments in the hearing conducted in New York by a Senate internal security subcommittee.

Wednesday no less than 13 American employees of the United Nations showed their colors by refusing to testify, or grounds of self-incrimination, whether or not they are or had been members of the Communist party.

These people, except one who fully admitted membership in the Communist party, did not say that they were Communists. They did say, however, that if they were forced to testify it would require self-incrimination, contrary to the provisions of the fifth amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

Obviously none of these people is a good security risk. None of them should be representing the American government in any capacity in the United Nations. The quicker they are booted out and replaced with Americans whose loyalty is beyond question, the better it will be for America.

We are engaged in a titanic struggle against the forces of Soviet Communism, a

Freedom's Still American Heritage

WHILE we have been fighting for a "free world" abroad, in three wars, powerful labor leaders at home have adopted tactics to force not only private citizens but our government itself to bow to their demands or suffer the consequences through strikes, intimidation, and violence. Aggression by force has been used around the world to destroy personal liberty and governments.

Kentucky newspapers have recorded the terror, violence and intimidation which the 4100 inhabitants of Central City, Kentucky, have experienced in connection with the campaign being waged by District 50 of the United Mine Workers Union to force all business in that town to unionize. Merchants are being financially ruined by a new kind of labor tactics which if successful could mean serious trouble for other communities.

The drive is directed at employers who have been told to sign up or take the consequences even down to the operators of one-man establishments. Reports show the town has been living in fear since last St. Patrick's Day. It has endured death threats, dynamitings, stink bombs, gun fire, beatings, mobs besieging business houses, led by out-of-townners with records for "pistol whippings," "branding and confederating," and other common mountain county offenses, including, in at least one case—murder.

Countenancing such acts has no place in the United States. They have no place in honest unionism. If this is to remain a free country no organization of unions or business should be allowed to force any individual to accept its demands against that individual's wishes. The merchants of Central City deserve the support of the nation in their courageous stand against the drive to destroy their independence. What is the use of fighting wars for a "free world" if a thing like this is tolerated at home?

The Doctor Says . . . Worrier's Fear of Diseases Is Worse Than Illness Itself

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

There are undoubtedly some readers of this column who should never look at it. These are the ones with active imaginations and worrying dispositions who think they have every disease which is discussed.

Some can read about their bodies and the diseases which might affect them without being bothered, but those who are in constant fear and worry about getting sick cause themselves a great deal of distress and do not accomplish anything worth-while.

One should not forget that nature is a great healer. Most people who become sick, even with serious conditions, recover entirely. Others who fail to progress to a stage where the disease from which they suffered has been conquered, even though some bad effects may remain.

Still others may even incur serious effects such as the loss of a limb from disease or injury and yet be able to resume reasonably active and useful lives.

There is another thing which people should remember when reading about the many diseases and injuries which afflict mankind. That is, even though people could get a great many diseases they never do.

struggle that may determine the future of the world. Can we logically, reasonably, intelligently expect our interests to be protected by people whose sympathies are on the other side in that struggle?

How do these Red sympathizers get into these positions of trust and responsibility upon behalf of the American government in the first place? Obviously there are other Communist sympathizers in higher authority who see to it that fellow travelers get these jobs.

A drastic shakeup of our governmental personnel is essential to remove from positions of trust all persons whose American loyalty and patriotism may be suspect. If we fail to do that, we are inviting our own disaster.

Adequate Facilities Are Vital At Polls

HEAVY registrations of voters for the Nov. 4 elections are causing fear in some quarters that there may be a jam-up at the polls.

Best indications are that between 55 and 60 million people will cast their ballots, as compared with 48.6 millions in 1948.

Those figures, in themselves, are grounds enough for suspecting some feet are going to get trampled, and worse yet that long delays in getting into voting places may cause some people to say, "Oh, the heck with it."

So, with admirable forethought and resolution, individuals and organizations who have concerned themselves most with getting out the vote are going into action.

Among these is the American Heritage Foundation which is conducting one of the biggest non-partisan national campaigns to get people to the polls.

The foundation is putting the heat on local election boards to provide enough adequately manned voting places. Individual citizens also can bring added influence to bear on election officials.

Actually, there's good cause for all this hullabaloo about getting out the vote. In 1948 only 51 per cent of the Americans who could have voted did so. But that same year in Italy 89 per cent of those eligible voted. Last year in England it was 83 per cent. There are others of recent years—Canada 75, Belgium 90, Sweden 80. And in America, remember, only 51.

So let's don't get caught with our arrangements down. With all indications pointing to a record vote, let's not allow inadequate facilities for voting keep people from exercising one of their most valuable rights. Let's try to insure that everyone who wants to vote can vote, with a minimum of wasted time and other inconvenience.

CAMPAIGN JOKES

(Green Bay Press Gazette)

There has not been a sufficient amount of mirth in this campaign. That fact cannot be blamed upon Governor Stevenson. Nor are the jokes he springs either stale or musty.

But genuine humor is frequently disguised.

We think that Mr. Truman, despite the ceaseless grinding of his store teeth, has revealed the most subtle form of fun the campaign has yet developed. When the President disclosed that his high office demanded a man of honor and character and that Ike was too low to be trusted with it, he demonstrated something about himself, and his future, perhaps heretofore unknown. The very fact that Mr. Truman can say what he did, in view of known facts that have happened during the last few years, and not smile when he says it, shows that he is one of the best poker players in the country.

After next January Mr. Truman should be dealing stud out at Reno.

An optimist is anybody who planted watermelon in a field right along the side of the highway.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — General Eisenhower has nothing to worry about in the way of political reaction when it comes to the tax exemption which the Treasury granted him on his house, 12 servants and living expenses at Columbia. The General wrote a letter to the Treasury about this on June 17, 1948, explaining that he wouldn't need so many servants if he were not president of Columbia and asked that the house, servants, etc., not be treated as income.

The capital-gains-tax ruling given him on his book, "Crusade in Europe," is likely to have less-favorable public reaction. In this case the General called personally on his friend, A. Lee M. Wiggins, then Undersecretary of the Treasury, following which the ruling was given highest priority.

One letter from the Treasury to Ike was even rushed to him by special courier. Ordinarily, rulings of this kind drag on for weeks or months.

And after a preliminary draft opinion favorable to Ike was written in the Treasury, Undersecretary Wiggins took the unusual step of sending it to Internal Revenue Commissioner Schoeneman with a note attached, reading: "this agreement should be approved."

Eisenhower's first letter to the Treasury was dated Dec. 20, 1947, and the Treasury replied on Dec. 22—with almost unheard-of speed. Since then, Congress has passed what has been dubbed "the Eisenhower amendment" making it impossible for others writing only one book to get the reduced capital gains tax.

COLUMBIA U. EXEMPTION

The General's letter, requesting that his house at Columbia and upkeep not be considered as taxable income, was addressed to Commissioner Schoeneman. It stated, in part:

"In my capacity as president of Columbia University the trustees provide an expense allowance to cover the cost of the upkeep of the large house in which Mrs. Eisenhower and I must live by reason of University tradition, the desires of the authorities, and by the daily requirements of the position. A staff of 12 servants is necessary to maintain this residence. Their salaries as well as all upkeep costs are paid from the expense allowance provided by the University."

"Various other costs such as entertainment, travel, and sundry other items required by my position with the University are also paid from this fund."

"All my work and activities are devoted to the duties of this position. These expense accounts do not have any application to the personal living costs of my family and myself. Food, clothing, automobiles, medical care, and ordinary expense of living are paid out of private resources."

Several other unimportant letters were sent to the Treasury, and in November, 1948, Internal Revenue gave Ike a favorable ruling.

CHEERS FOR PEPPER

Florida Democrats have pricked up their political ears over what happened to sit-on-their-hands senators when Governor Stevenson arrived in Tampa.

In Florida both Senators Spessard Holland and George Smathers have been sitting on their hands. They have made no speeches for Stevenson, lifted no finger for him, leaving it to ex-Senator Claude Pepper to organize the state.

At Tampa, Senator Smathers was invited to introduce Stevenson, but set the impossible condition that he be allowed to state during his introduction the reasons why he differed with the Governor. In brief, Smathers wanted to make a speech against Stevenson before Stevenson spoke. This was refused.

Instead, ex-Governor Doyle E. Carlton acted as master of ceremonies, while Congressman Hardin Peterson was to introduce Stevenson.

It was Carlton's job also to call on the distinguished visitors on the platform—including the two Congressmen and Senator Smathers. When he called on Smathers to take a bow, however, the Senator was greeted with long, loud and continuous boos. The roar continued for several seconds.

"It is now my privilege," Carlton continued, "to introduce the man who will introduce our guest of honor . . ."

There were immediate cries of "Pepper, Pepper, Pepper!"

Carlton tried to proceed.

"We want Pepper," yelled the crowd.

A third time he tried to introduce Congressman Peterson.

Again the crowd yelled: "Pepper! Pepper!"

Finally Carlton asked Pepper to take a bow. Only then did the crowd let him go about the business of introducing Peterson and Stevenson.

Planes Given Workout As Adlai And Ike Campaign For President

CAUGHT CAT-NAPPING BETWEEN STOPS, Candidates Eisenhower (left) and Stevenson are using the airplane for campaigning more than it's ever been used before by any White House hopeful.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) —If the big airliners had back platforms and didn't need a 5000-foot strip of concrete for a stop, they would be the perfect presidential campaign vehicle.

In spite of this deficiency, however, both candidates have decided that the flyin' machine is better than the choo-choo for getting them around the country to the voter.

The best estimate of Democratic Party travel experts is that Gov. Adlai Stevenson will do about 85 per cent of his traveling, in distance, on airplanes, and the rest by car or train. It's estimated that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower will do even less moving by train.

This is literally flying in the face of tradition. No previous presidential candidates have ever taken to the air to this extent.

In 1948, for example, President Truman traveled 22,000 miles by train and only made one hop in his airplane, a flight from Washington to Miami to speak to the American Legion Convention. And, the experts are pointing out, the two things which now stand out about that '48 campaign tour are the two things which the airplane does not have—the back platform and the whistle-stop.

On the other hand, some argue, the important thing is getting to a lot of places, not how you get there. Flying just means that you get to more of the big cities than the small ones.

The difference in cost between train and air travel is not a factor to the national committees which foot the bill. The method of figuring the cost of a special train is extremely complicated. But, all things considered, it is probably a little cheaper to fly.

The candidate and his helpers, a total of about 30 persons, can move in one four-engine plane. The press, TV and radio people follow in one or two other planes, which they pay for themselves.

American Airlines, which has done most of the hauling so far, charges $2.00 per mile for its big DC-6. That price includes all food, with no charges for stops or for being on the ground overnight.

The cost per mile on a special train is 4½ cents per person. But that is figured on the basis of a minimum of 125 persons on the train. On top of this, passengers must pay additional for Pullman accommodations, food and tips.

The special Pullman car which a candidate usually rides in costs a minimum of $92 per day. There are still more charges for switching, air conditioning, and stopping for any length of time which requires special sanitary arrangements.

The one charge which you have on the plane and not on the train is for a hotel room. Practically all of the airlines will be used by the candidates and, press some time during the campaign, although American has the cheapest rate.

United charges $2.25 a mile for its standard DC-6 and $2.50 a mile for its bigger DC-6B. Eastern is most expensive, with a cost of $2.95 per mile for its big Constellations.

Aside from cost, an argument rages among veteran newsmen and politicians who have accompanied previous campaigners, as to which mode of travel does most damage to body and soul.

There are those who claim that the hotel and shower each night, during a plane tour, outweigh the advantages of train travel. But the other side holds that early morning rising, usually necessary to get to the plane, is a barbaric practice which you don't follow on the train.

By CLINT DUNATHAN

TEACHERS ARE PEOPLE—In an Escanaba home last year, following a family dinner at which The Teacher was a guest, the hostess offered Teacher a cigaret.

"No thank you," she said, smiling. The hostess, whose daughter was in Teacher's room, made quite a point of assuring Teacher that she was among friends, that they were "broadminded" and Teacher could light up and puff away all she wanted to.

"But you see," said Teacher, now definitely on the defensive, "I don't smoke at all."

The hostess smiled compassionately and unbelievably. Teacher was just trying to make a good impression. No doubt when she smoked where she roomed she locked the door and opened the window.

Why can't teachers be like other people? Go ahead and smoke or drink in public if they want to? the hostess wondered.

SOME DO, SOME DON'T—In this particular instance the hostess was only proving her own argument. For her child's teacher did not smoke and had no intention of smoking just to prove to her pupil's mother that she was "a regular fellow."

But teachers are almost constantly under the scrutiny of the public. Scores of eyes watch them during the school day. If they go out in the evening they might as well wear a label marked "Teacher." And too often in the private homes where they room the landlady has an eye and ear cocked for what she can hear and see.

Teachers find, therefore, that if they smoke they are damned and if they do not smoke the yare hypocrites; if they keep late hours they are wild and if they retire early they are peculiar.

TAKING A STAND—By the same token the teacher is expected to be a walking information booth on every subject under the sun.

But if she is unable to answer a question her ability is doubted; if she has the answer she is "high brow."

Should she have an opinion concerning anything from politics to diet she must be careful in expressing herself. What she says may be misconstrued to leave the impression that the public schools are filled with Communists, Republicans, Vegetarians, Democrats or Rosierucians.

Older teachers, wise to the ways of the gossips, seldom express an opinion on anything controversial.

FREEDOM TO SPEAK—In their class room and out teachers live in glass houses. What they say and do is of more import than what is said and done in the community by—let us say the parents of their pupils.

Should Mama or Papa, for example, be politically active in the community, it would be taken for granted and even lauded as a contribution to good government.

But should a teacher become openly active in political affairs there would be outspoken criticism that it is not "proper" for a teacher to engage in partisan politics, even as a private citizen.

The majority of teachers have reacted to such pressures by retreating to a twilight zone of neutrality on almost every question of importance from politics to their own school curriculum.

The fault lies not with the teachers, it should be pointed out, but with the people who would relegate teachers to a voiceless position in the community.

FOR BETTER EDUCATION—Teachers are among the best educated people in a community or they would not be teachers. They should be encouraged, rather than discouraged, from taking an active part in community affairs.

Too often the persons who are critical of the teachers are also critical of the school system—and the students. Teachers are incompetent and unable to control their pupils, there is something wrong with the curriculum, and "everybody knows" how "wild" young people are these days.

If teacher could speak up fearlessly the result would be a healthier atmosphere in which to operate a better educational system—with better teachers.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

In an effort to speak "elegantly" many people, whose speech is otherwise as pure as the driven snow, go wrong on when to feel bad and when to feel badly and the like. The distinction ought to be easy. Let's see if I can explain.

Feel and—fortunately—a very few other verbs sometimes, though not always, do not express any action. They merely indicate a state of being. At such times the sentence requires only an adjective, an adjective that relates back to the subject. Be is such a verb. Thus we say: The hat is pretty. This pie is delicious. The girl is sad. The car is noisy. I am sick. The most common of the other verbs are look, taste, smell, appear, seem, and sound.

Now let us change our sentence around so as to use these other verbs. We now have: The hat looks pretty. This pie tastes (or smells) delicious. The girl appears (or seems) sad. The car sounds noisy. And, getting back to feel, I feel bad, with bad having the meaning of sick.

In other words, whenever you can substitute is, are, am, was, or were in the sentence and get about the same meaning you then use the adjective. But when that substitution doesn't make sense, it's a sign that the adverb is required.

Here are some examples: Betty looks unhappy. Here no action is indicated and is—Betty is unhappy—has the same meaning, so the adjective is right. But Betty looks (unhappily, unhappily) down the street. Here action is indicated and the substitution of is—Betty is (unhappily, unhappily) down the street—doesn't make sense, so we need the adverb unhappily.

That hat looks (beautiful, beautifully) on you. Shall we use the adjective beautiful or the adverb beautifully? Substitute is, and we see immediately that there is no action and the adjective is needed.

TEEN TALK

BY VIVIAN BROWN

What to do with all those little things we've picked up on vacation... shells, driftwood, fossils and other rocks, coins, butterflies and that collection of postcards and stamps we've just begun?

Most times we clutter up the house with these new-found treasures until Dad and Mom put a bit of pressure on getting us to dispose of them. One morning we look at our prize collections fondly and put them in the junk heap. It needn't be that way at all.

You can do wonderful things with shells, for instance. Dress up your room by pasting them on the walls, follow out the salty decor by putting fish net (available in beautiful colors) at your windows. Dangle corks from the net. Make a large anchor of rope and paste it or attach it to a wall with transparent tape. Fish prints or photographs can add to the charm of your seashore room.

If you are a conchologist in earnest, then paste your little shells to black velvet, typewrite shell types under each and paste to a wall or insert in a pretty little box for all to admire.

Driftwood is fun used as decorations, dangling from the ceiling or made into lamps or placed on the back of your door with a recess holding philodendron, ivy or other trailing vines. A collection of driftwood in animal shapes can make an attractive hobby spot in any room.

An ordinary rock or fossil collection can make conversational pieces if they are properly identified and attractively displayed. Don't throw them in old coffee cans or jars and expect onlookers to be enthusiastic.

Postcards from places far or near may be pasted over an old desk and covered with a glass or placed symmetrically or fan-shaped on the wall around your mirror with tape. These shouldn't be thrown in a drawer to take up space until they are discarded.

Coins picked up while traveling in foreign lands make interesting necklaces or bracelets.

Butterfly collections make handsome accessories to a room. Insects as collections do not have as much appeal to girls as boys, says the American Hobby Federation. After a one-year national study of hobby clubs the federation has found that the top ten collective and creative hobbies are: seals and labels, autographs, model plane making, woodcraft, insect collecting, stamps, painting, dolls, photography, model railroading.

Stamp collecting is not as popular as formerly, they say, because weekly allowances have been cut, and kids are concentrating on other items. Seals and label hobbyists obtain them from household items such as food, cosmetics, clothing, confectionery, letters and packages. Other popular seals and labels include famous generals, presidents of the U. S. A., famous battles, photos of cities, mountains, monuments, parks, athletes.

Photography is a newcomer to the top ten hobby favorites of young people reports the federation with almost as many girls as boys fascinated by it.

Instead of taking photographs of giggling girls and reluctant boys, the camera hobbyist concentrates on trick shots or unusual scenery and sometimes manages to make the hobby pay off. Many photography prizes are taken by teen-agers. A Jill or Johnny-on-the-spot lens enthusiast may be rewarded by snapping an important news picture for the local paper.

Delicious breakfast dish: Serve apple pancakes with honey and panfried sausage. To make the pancakes add a cup of chopped apple to your favorite pancake batter.

Wife's Loyalties Belong To Both Husband And Son

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
Children often complicate a second marriage. The trouble is more often with the wife than with the husband, but in this case, it is the reverse.

(Q) "I have a grown son by my first marriage. He is married and has a family. A few years ago, I married a man who had no children. He certainly knew how I felt about my son. However, when they come for occasional visits, he treats them in such a way that everyone is tense. Now I dread their coming. After they have been here, my husband points out all my son's faults, as he sees them. I've given my marriage the best I have, but I've reached the point where his lack of understanding is killing my love for him. Where do my loyalties stop and start?"

(A) You have loyalties to both your husband and your son, not to one of them alone. A mother should never be placed in a position where she feels she cannot see her child if she wants to.

Your son and his family are very tolerant and understanding to put up with your new husband's behavior. It must be as great an ordeal for them to come to see you as it is for you to have them. That isn't fair for you or for them.

Explain tactfully and unemotionally to your husband how you feel about the way he treats your son and his family and criticizes your son. Let him know how it is affecting your feelings for him.

Unquestionably your husband is jealous of your son. Make him realize that the love a woman has for a child is very different from her love for her husband. She is capable of experiencing both and it isn't necessary to give up one for the other. Having had no children of his own, your husband can't understand parental feeling. He may resent the happiness you have had as a mother and he doubtless feels that his stepson doesn't feel toward him as he would toward his own father.

Urge your son and his family to be especially nice to your husband, even making a fuss over him. This should help soften any bitterness your husband may have and make him more friendly.

Dr. Hurlock is author of 12 books in psychology. Her advice in this column is free. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Stalin Retains His Top Jobs

By EDDY GILMORE and THOMAS P. WHITNEY
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party named its new high command today and kept Joseph Stalin firmly in all the top jobs.

The party's new Central Committee announced election of a Presidium of 25 members and 11 alternates to replace the old Politburo and a 10-man Secretariat to supervise party administration. Stalin was named head of both key groups. Also elected was a new chairman of the party Control Committee which has charge of party discipline.

The Presidium is more than twice the size of the old Politburo of 11 members and one alternate. Replacing the Politburo, it will direct the work of the Central Committee between the party's quadrennial full sessions and will also take over the duties of the old Orgburo—the organization bureau—which dealt with party organization.

The Secretariat also was enlarged. It formerly had only five members.

Stalin's top rank in the party was emphasized by the placing of his name out of alphabetical order at the head of the announced listing of both the Presidium and Secretariat. All other names were given in their Russian alphabetical order.

In addition, Stalin is head of the party Central Committee and, in the Soviet government, chairman of the Council of Ministers—premier of the Soviet Union.

Its suspension span will be 3,800 feet long—second only to the renowned 4,200 foot Golden Gate bridge across San Francisco bay.

The height of span will be 150 feet over the water. The towers, 565 feet high, will be sunk to a depth of 140 and 106 feet.

The building time is estimated at a year to a year and a half. The "actual construction" time is set at "four seasons."

Cost of operation of the bridge is set at about $400,000 a year, including maintenance.

The "probable tolls" are estimated at about 25 per cent over present ferry rates.

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The chief of Nationalist China's Joint General Staff scoffs at reports Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's 600,000 man army on Formosa is over-age and getting stale.

Four-star Gen. Chou Chih-ju described the Nationalist forces as actually "in their best years as fighting men." Their average is 26.

"We can take the Communists on, one to 10," he asserted in an interview.

No Combat In 3 Years
As in other armies, he said, over-age officers and men are being replaced by new recruits, drawn from an ample manpower

Death Flag Ripped Down In Indonesia As Thousands Riot

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Thousands of Indonesians ran riot in Indonesia's capital today in the wake of a parliamentary vote censuring Defense Minister Hamengku Buwono IX, the popular sultan of Jogjakarta.

Several thousand persons mobbed the residence of the Netherlands high commissioner, tore down the Dutch flag flying there and ripped it to shreds.

Government tanks and artillery rolled into the heart of Jakarta as some 15,000 demonstrators congregated around the parliament building at daybreak and demanded the legislature dissolved.

Wearing apparel of many of the rioters and some of the banners they carried indicated the Communists had a part in the disturbance.

Airman Hits Reds With Kitchen Sink

TOKYO (AP)—This time they hit 'em with everything—including the kitchen sink.
The Navy said Lt. Carl B. Austin of Woodburn, Ore., a pilot aboard the aircraft carrier Princeton, recently attached a sink to a 1,000-pound bomb and dropped it on a major North Korean city.

"I wasn't able to see what damage the sink caused," Austin said, "but I guess the Reds can take the hint that we mean business."

Traffic Scrambled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Stevenson motorcade yesterday produced one of the wildest traffic scrambles yet seen in this city of free-wheeling drivers.

There were only 16 cars officially in the parade from airport to downtown, but nearly 1,000 highly decorated automobiles tried to keep up with the caravan. Horns a-blasting and three abreast, the added starters tied up traffic near the airport for 20 minutes.

Urge Recent Vets To Register With MESC Office here

Recent veterans of the armed forces, who may be eligible to file claims for unemployment compensation under the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, after October 14, today were urged by the branch office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission to register for work if they are not working.

Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba office, which is to handle claims under this act, covering payment of unemployment compensation to veterans, pointed out that several conditions must be met to become eligible for benefits.

This compensation is payable only to veterans who are unemployed for no reason other than that they cannot obtain a suitable job. One of the first requirements is that the unemployed veteran be registered for work with the MESC. Another is that he must be able to work, and available for work. Openings exist locally for auto mechanic, office machine repairman, salesman and chauffeur.

Dixon also announced that his office of the MESC has full information on re-employment rights under the Selective Service act.

He stated that the purpose of the new veterans' unemployment compensation legislation is to provide job insurance until the veteran can be successfully placed in a job for which he is qualified. The maximum amount payable is $676, in weekly payments of $26 for 26 weeks. The money will remain until used.

Veterans who are receiving mustering-out pay cannot receive these payments for the same period. Nor can unemployment compensation for veterans be collected while the veteran is receiving allowances for education subsistence or on-the-job training.

In addition, Dixon pointed out, if the veteran had any credits under the Michigan Employment Security Act, for work before he entered service, he must draw those benefits first. The branch office at Escanaba has offered to advise veterans of their rights.

Veterans should bring their discharge or separation papers with them when they file the claim, their social security card, and a list of employers for whom they worked prior to entering service, and up to date of claim.

common action in Korea" and pledged a fight to the finish against aggression.

"We shall fight on as long as is necessary to stop the aggression and to restore peace and security to Korea," Acheson declared.

"We shall stop fighting when an armistice on just terms has been achieved. And we shall not allow faint-heartedness or recklessness to defeat our cause, which is to defend peace."

The secretary asked for more help—troops, food, clothing, material and money—for the U. N. forces.

"We must convince the aggressor," he declared, "that continued fighting in Korea will cost him more than he can gain."

In a plea designed to hold the free world together against threatened Kremlin attempts to split the non-Communist nations Acheson urged solidarity in the field of collective security, emphasizing:

"The alternative to this solidarity is the disintegration of the United Nations and the triumph of lawlessness in the world."

Wrangle Holds Up Coal Pay Boost As Strike Spreads

as high as that automatically approvable under WSB cost-of-living regulations.

But labor members of the WSB, which is composed of labor, industry and public members, have argued that other wage rules justify the increase. They say it is neither inflationary or unstabilizing.

Industry members, however, firmly reject that thesis. They say they have seen no evidence to indicate the pay raise is within existing ceilings.

Producers Ask Relief
Industry, meanwhile, pressed for either a lifting of ceilings, or an increase, with the OPS maintaining a "wait and see" attitude pending outcome of the WSB ruling.

One official told a reporter that from 25 to 30 telegrams, plus numerous telephone calls, have been received from producers urging the OPS to give them a ceiling price adjustment.

The price officials said a preliminary survey has indicated that the cost to producers of the new contract will run 40 cents per ton or better on the average. This includes the 10 cents per ton increase in royalty payments to the miners welfare fund.

Putnam and WSB Chairman Archibald Cox conferred for one hour privately yesterday. Soon afterwards, Cox announced he would hold a news conference. But the conference never took place and there was no official explanation why.

Illness Swells

From reliable sources, however, it was learned that:

Putnam asked Cox to get unanimous consent from the WSB to postpone further consideration of the important case until the President's Advisory Committee on Mobilization holds its two-day meeting next Monday and Tuesday.

When Cox broached that idea to the WSB, labor members angrily rejected it. They reportedly said the job of dealing with the miners' wage increase was one for the WSB, nobody else.

Cox canceled his news conference shortly afterwards.

Should the WSB fail to approve the contract within the next few days the number of idle miners is certain to swell and may shut off up to 80 per cent of the nation's soft coal production.

Lewis bargains for more than 350,000 bituminous miners. The last time they struck was in the long dispute over the 1949 contract negotiations.

Politics Involved

Persons close to the WSB were uncertain just what Putnam had in mind when he sought postponement of the present WSB study of the case.

It was felt that the administration was fearful over the political implications, three weeks before election, of a possible all-out coal strike that could follow WSB approval of the contract.

It was also felt that if the WSB approved the boost it might be criticized as acting under political influences, especially in view of Lewis' recent and unexpected endorsement of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president.

Ike Attacks Wild Regime Of Truman

—vastly outweigh anything available to this godless communism.

"Why then, must we be frightened? Why have we not been let into a better combination of collective security that will lift from our homes that fear that a son may be called, the dread of hearing bad news from the son who is away from home at this moment?"

Eisenhower said that then "we begin to look at what has happened to us here at home, and we see an expenditure program that, in the absence of a more reasonable explanation than we have yet had, appears reckless and extravagant to the point of sheer folly."

"We can't afford what we are spending and stay strong enough to lead the world toward peace," he said.

"Someone, my friends, is making a terrible error; they believe that we can have and maintain military strength above our capacity to pay for it."

Eisenhower said it was impossible to pile deficit upon deficit and still have "the kind of economy we have known."

"Whenever I say this I am accused of saying that America cannot afford to defend itself," he said. "I never said any such thing. I said that frugality, efficiency, information, knowledge properly used, can bring us a defense organization that will be balanced with our capacity to pay, and so will make and keep us strong."

He declared Americans were being squeezed between taxes and prices and "as if all of this were not enough, why do we have to have any vestige of subversion or dishonesty in our government—in high places and in low?"

Fined $50 For Killing Deer
Harry Belanger, Gladstone, pleaded guilty to a charge of killing a deer in closed season with the use of artificial light and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and court costs of $7.50.
In addition Belanger will be unable to obtain a license to hunt deer in Michigan for the next three years.
Belanger was one of three men arrested over three weeks ago on charges of having a rifle in possession during the 15-day period immediately preceding the opening of small game season.
The trio was found "shining" a field on the Stonington peninsula. There was no gun in the car at the time the officer stopped them but a .22 bolt action rifle fitted with scope was found the next morning. Belanger later admitted ownership of the gun. All three were fined on the gun charge.
Later the same day a large 8 point buck was found dead in the field. The bullet which killed the deer was removed from the animal and it and the firearm were sent to the crime laboratory of the Michigan State Police at East Lansing tests made by Sgt. LeRoy Smith definitely determined that the bullet which killed the deer had been fired from Belanger's gun.
Belanger was advised of this by conservation officers and he agreed to enter a plea of guilty to the deer killing charge.
Days River Grass Fire Extinguished
Gladstone firemen were called to Days River where a grass fire on the east side of US2 and 41 at a point opposite the Days River road threatened several buildings. The blaze was extinguished in a short time.

'No' On Proposal 2, 'Yes' On 3, Urged By Rep. John Wood

The importance of voting "no" on amendment proposal 2, and "yes" on proposal 3 was stressed in a short talk by Rep. John F. Wood at a regular meeting of Manistique Lodge No. 632, B. P. O. E., Wednesday evening.

Rep. Wood explained the two proposals, stating that proposal 2 would place control of the Michigan legislature in the hands of Wayne and any other four large counties. Proposal 3, he pointed out, would provide for a "balanced legislature", would prevent domination of Michigan government by the big metropolitan centers, and should have the support of voters.

Bondarchuk fled from his unit last summer by boarding a street-car in the Russian zone of Austria and riding into four-power-occupied Vienna. From there he made his way to the American zone of Germany.

Braves Travel To Stephenson For Night Tilt

GLADSTONE — Winding up preparations for tonight's battle against Stephenson at Stephenson, Coach Don Pietenauer took his Gladstone high school Braves to the Central playground for a session under the lights.

Pass defense was stressed in practice this week for Stephenson has a big, fast eleven which has used the aerial game to good advantage this season.

Physically the Braves will be in good shape as they go for their fifth victory in six starts.

The local mentor plans to stay by the team which started against Ishpeming last week-end. This includes Martin Becker and Francis Rabitoy at ends, Harold Goodyer and Eugene Peterson at tackles, Ed Bunno and Capt. Jack Holm at guards, Rodney Kelley at center, Bob Sanford at quarterback, Tom Moreau at right half, Lowell LaPlant at left half and Joe Corbiel at fullback.

Tom Brewer will be used defensively as a guard and Norbert Butler will be used at halfback on offense.

The game is scheduled to start at 9 Gladstone time.

Wolves Get Test In Northwestern Clash

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's Evanston, Ill., and a Saturday Big western that may well decide the Wolverines' role in the Western Conference race.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan and his 40 players flew from Willow Run Airport by chartered plane at 12 noon.

Extra importance is attached to the contest in which the Wolverines are favored by about one touchdown. For it may indicate clearly whether Michigan's first win, last Saturday against Indiana, started a trend or was just a good day for the Wolverines.

Shown Improvement After two defeats Michigan came alive to take a 28-13 win over a fired up Indiana club. Halfbacks Ted Kress and Tony Branoff showed great improvement in sparking the win. And Oosterbaan looks for further improvement against the Wildcats.

That prospect materializes, Michigan could be a steadily-improving club that will match the increasing toughness of the schedule. A defeat could forecast a dismal conference season for the Wolverines.

Up for a chance to show his ability is Dick Balzhiser, a tough 175-pounder from Wheaton, Ill. Already a factor in Michigan's line-backing plans, he would move in ahead of Fred Baer and Bob Hurley on offense, if he can

Eskymos Host To Marinette In Final Home Grid Contest

Last Home Game For 18 Seniors

Coach Joe Milokna's Escanaba Eskymos are girded for an all-out victory effort against an invading Marinette Marine football squad in the final home game here tomorrow afternoon. Kickoff time is 2:45.

The Eskymos under their new mentor have come along fast this season and will be seeking their third straight victory. In their last two outings the Eskys shutout Kingsford 54-0 and Iron Mountain 21-0.

Marinette may provide the Escanaba team with its stiffest test of the year. Coach Howie Stiehm's Marines lost their two opening starts and then came through with impressive wins over Chippewa Falls and Wisconsin Rapids.

Hit By Injuries

Injuries put a big crimp in the Eskymo practice sessions this week, with several key players missing from action. Defense man Con Michael, a senior, is lost to the club for the remainder of the season. Regular starters Dick Weycker and John Peterson, fullback and tackle, have been hampered as have been Bill Peltier, Allan Davidson and George Bartley.

Eskymo Coaches Milokna and Burt Gustafson have experimented with front line reserves and may be forced to field a patched up starting lineup. But spirit is high and workouts have been satisfactory.

The Eskymos are determined to stave off Marinette's bid for victory by a larger margin than Menominee's three weeks ago. The Menominee-Marinette game has been cancelled and it figures that the Marines will be out to better Menominee's performance against a mutual foe.

18 Seniors

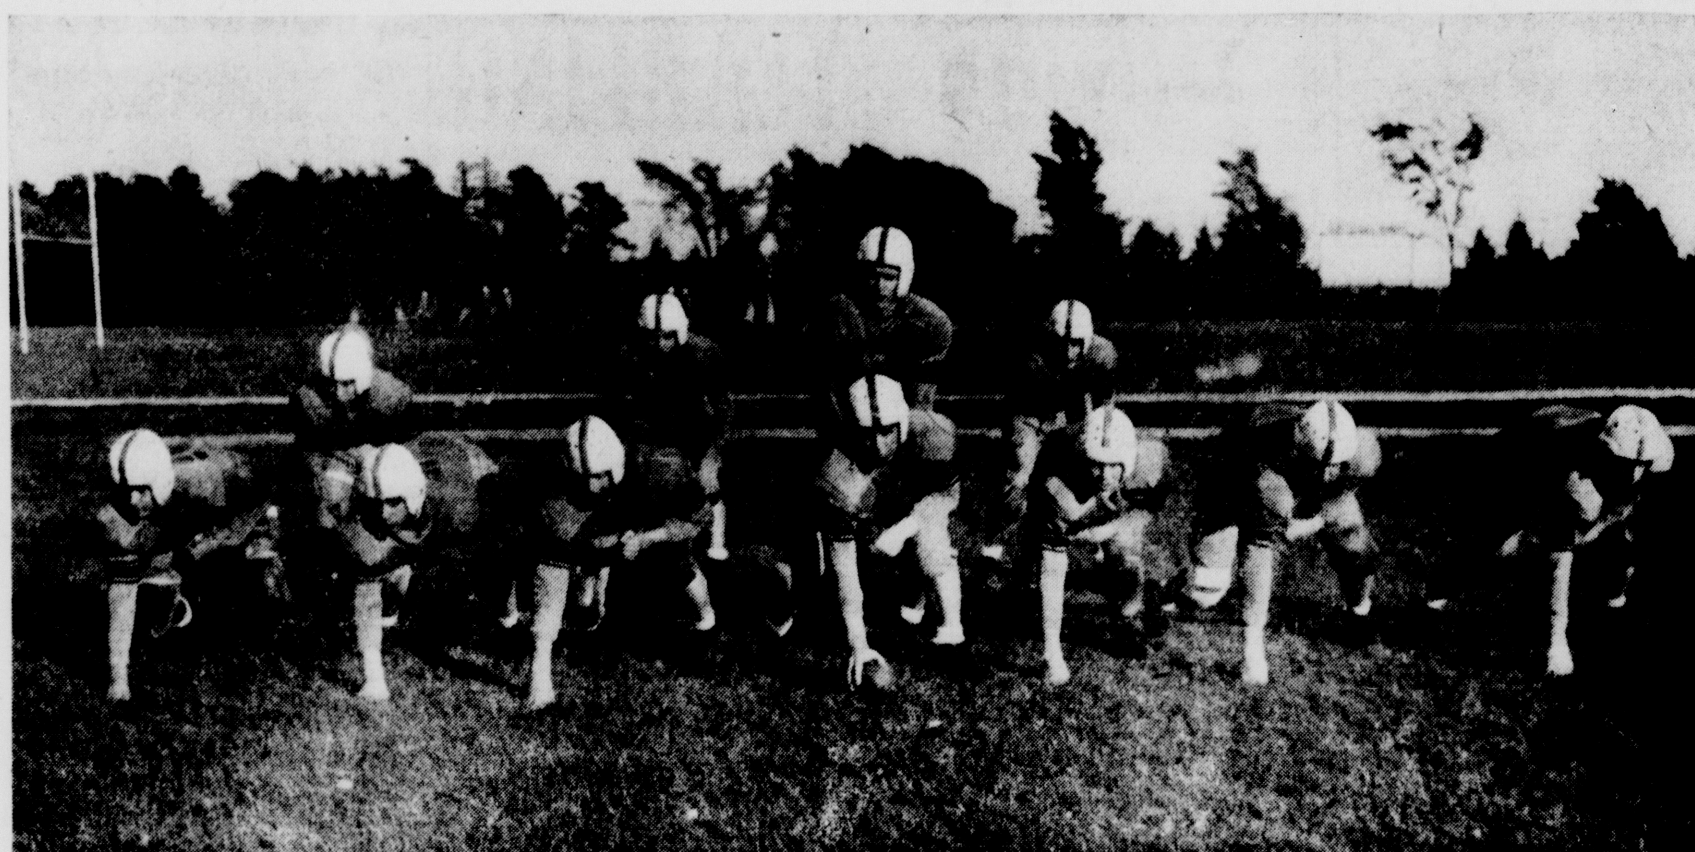

The game will mark the final home appearance of 18 seniors on the Eskymo squad. Seeing their last action in the Escanaba gridiron will be Richard Carlson, Alan Davidson, Gerald Nichol, Bob Monson, Charlie Bellefeuille, John Jensen, Jim Peterson, John Peterson, John Trotter, George Peterson, Wayne King, Judd, Yelland, Fred Boddy, Bill Peltier, Dick Weycker, Dick Peterson and Paul Davidson.

Largest crowd of the season is expected for the home finale. Advance tickets are on sale downtown at Gust Asp's and Tommy's Lunch and at the Senior High activities office.

In a special performance at half-time, the Junior High A band will join with the Senior High band in a 120-piece unit under the direction of Robert S. Meyer.

Game officials will be Eddie Chambers of Crystal Falls, Miles Finnegan of Niagara, Wis., and Omer Lajeunesse of Iron Mountain.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary game here. Kickoff is at 12:45.

FACE MARINETTE TOMORROW—This is how the Escanaba Eskymos will line up when they dig in against the Marinette Marines tomorrow at 2:45 at the Esby High athletic field. The Eskymos will be seeking their third straight victory in their final home showing of the 1952 season. Nine of the starters pictured above are seniors who will be appearing at the Escanaba

Northern Michigan Meets Tech Tomorrow

HOUGHTON (AP)—Unbeaten Northern Michigan will send its freshman-studded team to Michigan Tech Saturday for the 52nd renewal of this Upper Peninsula football series.

All except nine of the 32 Northern players coached by C. V. Money are freshmen. But the Wildcats, by whipping Olivet, Wisconsin State and Ferris, have become the only unbeaten team in the state besides Michigan State.

Tech has won three of four games this year and has taken 28 in the all-time series, against 19 for Northern and Four ties.

Veteran Football Man Says Sport On Way Out

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Edgar (Eggs) Manske, who's played or coached football two-thirds of his 40 years, said today he's quitting as end coach at undefeated California after this season "because de-emphasis is inevitable."

"College football is on its way out," he declared. "There is no future in the game, even for a head coach."

"For the present, college presidents are tolerating big time football. But they don't like it, and eventually they'll get what they want."

Just Talk?

Lynn (Pappy) Waldo, head coach of California's No. 3 rated team in The Associated Press Poll, disagreed. He also said Manske frequently talks of quitting, but has remained—and "I hope he changes his mind again. He's a good man and I'd hate to lose him."

Manske said, "man and boy, baan planned a brief workout in Dyche stadium at Evanston today before quartering his squad at the North Shore Hotel for the night.

Lack of experience has thus far handicapped Baer, a sophomore from LaGrange, Ill. Hurley, who provides good speed on wide plays, has lacked the power to crack the middle of the opponents' line consistently.

Hren Is Threat

Michigan hopes are currently pinned on Balzhiser to come through and bring balance to the Wolverine backfield.

Oosterbaan put the final polish on his squad yesterday in a long workout here in which defensive tactics were emphasized for the third straight day.

The Michigan squad is intent on stopping Northwestern's fine fullback, Chuck Hren, who collected 149 yards on 31 tries as the Wildcats bowed 27-26 to Minnesota.

Hren scored three of the four Northwestern touchdowns and could be embarrassing to Michigan's defensive unit, which has yielded eight touchdowns this season.

The Wolverines worked long against Northwestern-style plays, run by the reserves, and wound up the week's practice with an offensive drill in which passes were again emphasized. Ooster-

Trojans Fired Up For Brown Jug Grid Battle

A fired-up band of St. Joe Trojan gridgers shrugged off serious injury handicaps in a spirited 15-minute workout last evening in preparation for the Brown Jug battle at Munising tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Tom St. Germain's Parochial school gridgers enter the Munising game with four straight victories behind them. After a dismal start against Gladstone the Trojans have jelled into a hard-hitting unit that was edged by Stambaugh 13-0 and then posted four consecutive wins over Bark River, St. Norbert, Norway and Crystal Falls.

The 1952 Trojans are eager to repeat the outstanding record posted by last year's great St. Joe team. As the team did this year, the Trojans last season lost their first two starts and then came on fast to register six victories in the remaining games.

Injuries Hurt

Loss of two key players for the Munising game dimmed Trojan spirits momentarily this week, but the St. Joe squad looked sharp and effective in yesterday's final workout. Lost to the squad were Dan Marsieck, left tackle, and Bill Lancour, reserve quarterback. Bob Rademacher has been moved into the open tackle slot.

The Brown Jug is a vital factor in the Saturday game. St. Joe has possession and the Trojans feel it will take an awful good Munising team to get it back. Coach Stan Whitman's Mustangs hold a slight edge in the Brown Jug series that dates back to 1924.

Lions To Be At Full Strength For Rams

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions, outclassed in two of three appearances against west coast teams, hope to reach the 500 mark in National Professional Football League competition, Sunday, against the defending champion Los Angeles Rams.

The Lions tagged the Rams with a 17-14 loss earlier this year at Los Angeles. It was the only win against west coast competition this year for the Detroit club which has lost both of its games with the high flying San Francisco 49ers.

A crowd of 40,000 is expected to see the rematch between the two clubs. A loss for either Detroit or Los Angeles will probably write a finish to either club's 1952 title hopes. Both have league records of one win and two losses.

Missing Last Week

Coach Buddy Parker indicated the Lions will be at full strength for the Sunday encounter. Halfback Doak Walker, Fullback Pat Harder and End Leon Hart are expected to be ready for the game. The absence of the three stars was blamed in part by some for the Detroit club's 28-0 defeat last Sunday at the hands of the 49ers.

However, the Rams, winners by a 30-28 score over Green Bay last Sunday, are hit by two crippling injuries. End Elroy Hirsch was sidelined in the close encounter with a recurrence of a leg injury and defensive standout Andy Robustelli, suffered a groin injury.

Former Michigan State college grid great Bob Carey is expected to replace Hirsch in the Rams' starting lineup. It will be Carey's first Michigan appearance in a pro uniform.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

We weren't surprised to learn that Iron River turned down Menominee's bid for a Nov. 1 game to replace the cancelled contest with Marinette this year. The Redskins are perfectly satisfied with their schedule as it is and aren't interested in any change or extension of the season. Up in that territory the folks are very conference conscious and to them the Menominee Range Conference is of No. 1 importance. If football teams stray out of the conference, they take care not to meet any of the teams usually regarded as football powers.

Iron River and Stambaugh were two of the schools contacted by Escanaba in an effort to fill its open date. Neither was interested in the proposal, however. They feel they'd be sticking their necks out to schedule a team like Escanaba or Menominee when they have their hands full right in their own back yards. We think you'll see, as the years pass, that fewer and fewer of the smaller schools in the U. P. will be able to match the larger Class B competition on the gridiron.

Speaking of football, the third annual polio benefit game will be played at Munising between the old timers and former stars from Munising High at 2 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 19. The two previous games ended in 0-0 and 6-6 ties. Joseph Pelletier Jr. and Ted Belfry will be captains of the two squads.

Frank Rodman of Hermansville tells us that the Texas Cow Girls are hitting the Community Club gym three times daily for practice drills. They work out mornings, afternoons and evenings and are rapidly developing a fine cage team, Rodman says. The girls will continue their training at Hermansville until Oct. 31 and are booked by Rodman for 10 games in the Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba's two all-state gridgers of last season are firmly established on their colleges' freshman football squads. Paul Gunderman, Escanaba Eskymo all-stater and U. P. lineman of the year last season, is working out daily against the Marquette University varsity as an offensive end. And Pete Kutches, St. Joe's all-time great, is a first string defensive back on the University of Wyoming freshman team.

Spartan Man-Power Is Problem For Syracuse

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—Syracuse will run up against a man-power problem here Saturday in the game with Michigan State, the nation's top-rated football team.

The trouble is that Michigan State has too many men and too much power according to the post game quotes of the coaches of the last 18 teams the Spartans have beaten.

One losing coach was asked if any one Michigan State player or player hurt him particularly. "That's like asking the guy who backed up against the buzz saw which tooth bit him," he answered.

Small Squad

Syracuse is flying in only 35 men for this game—a small squad in these days of two platoon football. Since this is a home game, Michigan State coach Biggie Munn will be able to empty his bench again. Syracuse will be tiring in the second half and those fresh, eager replacements are bound to do some damage.

Munn used 44 men against Texas A & M last Saturday. The first two platoons of backs rolled a respectable 21-6 lead at halftime.

Then when Munn's third and fourth string shock troops went in the roof fell in on the Texans as the benchwarmers romped for four more touchdowns.

Michigan State's depth in the backfield is illustrated by the fact that the team has no one outstanding star.

Yardage Leaders

Quarterback Tom Yewcic has the best yardage record with his 22 pass completions for 519 yards and captain Don McAuliffe, left half with the first platoon backfield, is tops in rushing with 192 yards.

Right behind McAuliffe in rushing yardage are halfbacks Billy Wells and Lefty Bolden with 156 yards and 132 yards respectively.

Wells is a baby-faced back who runs like a demon and Bolden is one of Munn's Negro speedsters. They belong to what Munn refers to as his second string backfield—probably because they go in second in rotation, someone observed.

Munn was irritated the other day because a writer referred to his backs as "Munn's monsters".

"Bolden weighs 165 pounds and Wells weighs 175," he said. "A better name for them would be Munn's midgets."

Munn has used 13 offensive backs so far. Six of them have produced touchdowns.

Michigan State has great depth in its passing attack as well, as illustrated by the fact that 11 assorted backs and ends have pulled down passes so far this season.

Praises Syracuse

Munn, who has a fresh set of worries to air about every team he meets, says Michigan State will have to go all-out to win this one. "Best Syracuse team in years," Munn said. "Best set of backs we'll meet this year. Got a line that averages out at 209 pounds. And they'll be way up to beat us—I know that Syracuse spirit after coaching there."

The betting is, however, that Michigan State will make this its 19th win in a row. Munn also will be shooting for his 40th victory at Michigan State against eight losses and two ties in a six-year span.

The probable starting lineup:

Physician Raps Pro Boxing, Urges National Medical Code

CHICAGO (AP)—A physician, formerly an athletic official, said today that boxing needs official medical supervision "to remove the stigma of legalized murder."

He declared that many boxing deaths are not accidental, as listed, but due to failure of equipment or regulations to protect the boxer sufficiently.

Dr. Frank Ferliano, former chairman of the medical advisory board to the New York State Athletic Commission, urged a national or international medical code for the sport.

Dr. Ferliano outlined his views in an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Paid By Promoters

He pointed out that physicians attending boxers at New York bouts are paid now by the promoters. Only one or two state boxing commissions, he wrote, pay the physician directly for pre-bout physical examinations of boxers.

"This 'placing of the physician on the payroll of the promoters and arena owners," Dr. Ferliano said, "is the weakest part in the state boxing laws."

It has resulted, he said, in lack of general knowledge about ring injuries. "Physicians have little desire to publish their observations because of their relationship with their employers."

Dr. Ferliano said "all deaths in the ring are listed by the boxing authorities, commissions, and sports writers as accidental."

"They fail to analyze the mechanics of fatal injuries that most commonly are due to cerebral hemorrhage. The generally accepted causes are:

Causes of Deaths

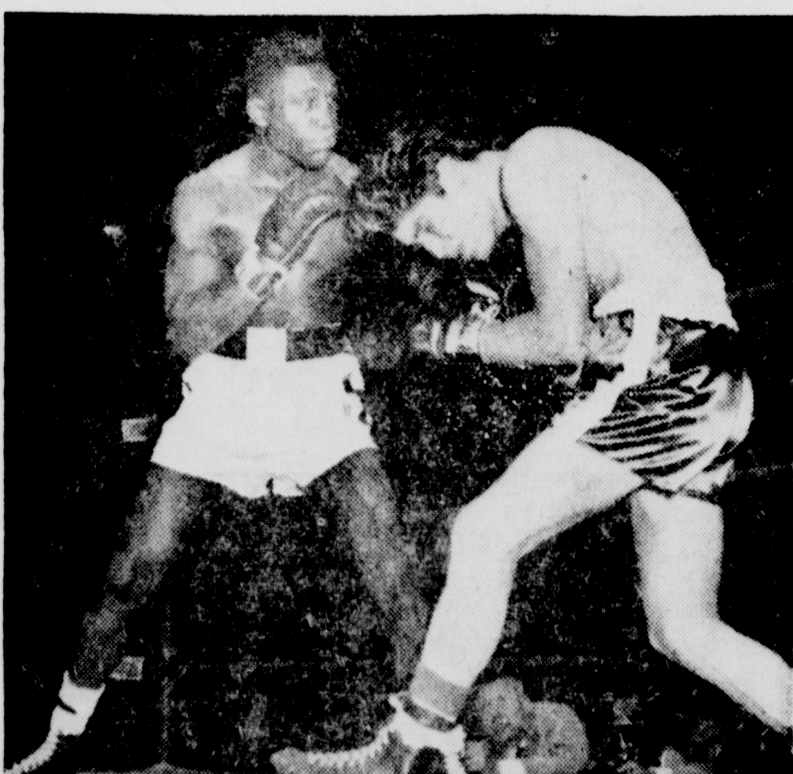

"1. The gloves lack adequate padding. 2. The mat under the canvas does not give sufficient protection when the boxer's head strikes the floor. 3. The mouthpiece is not sufficiently resilient.

"Still another cause is action of commissions in relicensing fighters who have been inactive or retired, often many years. These men usually are not in good physical condition, and they are particularly vulnerable to injuries."

Dr. Ferliano suggested a number of changes, including better padding inside boxing gloves, better safety mats under the canvas, and improved hand taping procedure to reduce fractures and sprains.

He also proposed: "Better first aid procedures at ringside, set up criteria for requiring immediate stoppage of a boxing bout for medical reasons, and institute neurological and electroencephalographic (brain wave) diagnostic procedures to detect the earliest onset of the 'punch drunk' syndrome in fighters."

Fewer Upsets; Defense Has Been Stressed This Season

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—This 1952 college football season, which has not even reached the halfway point, has shown at least two unusual tendencies: (A) there have been few upsets, and (B) defense has become the thing.

The teams that were thought to have the power at the start of the season generally have come through. Perhaps the biggest reversal of form to date was Pitt's triumph over Notre Dame last week. But the Irish were not considered any great shakes.

Wisconsin got beaten by Ohio State in another upset but there again the Buckeyes always were tough and not too many observers (outside Wisconsin) were actually startled.

Defense Unsung
The others all were strictly minor, a surprising situation in these days of teams facing major opponents without warmup games—or even without spring practice.

As for defense, since the two-planet system went into effect, the kids who tried to hold the enemy were the unsung heroes. Some of them, in fact, weren't even heroes. They were just unsung. Period.

But it was the defense that licked Wisconsin for Ohio State. It was Penn's defense that held off Princeton and enabled the Quakers to snap the Tigers' 24-game winning streak, and it is the defensive platoon that's carrying Southern California.

Well, there's no guarantee that those trends will continue tomorrow when virtually every team in the country moves into action.

The Big Seven race should be decided when two of the top-ranking teams in the weekly Associated Press poll tangle in Lawrence, Kas. Oklahoma, No. 6, meets Kansas, No. 8, and to the winner will go the spoils barring Reich, the ex-Army star, will have a big upset later in the campaign.

Kansas Underdog
Oklahoma, the defending champion, probably will enter the fray a lot to say on behalf of the Jayhawks.

Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the country, takes on once-beaten Syracuse. The Orange is one of the better teams in the East, but who gives it a chance against the Spartans?

Maryland and California, which have been waiting for State to falter, tangle with opponents that are not calculated to do any damage. The Terrapins, under a year's suspension from the Southern Conference for playing the Sugar Bowl, face Navy, a substantial but untested team, while California, the class of the Pacific Coast Conference with Jumpin' Johnny Olszewski in the driver's seat, plays Santa Clara.

'Bama Over Vols
Georgia Tech, which would like to get recognized as the top team in the South, plays Auburn, which should prove no problem. The big game of the day in Dixieland, however, pits surprising Alabama against Tennessee at Knoxville, and believe it or not, the Vols will be a one-touchdown underdog. That's how highly Southern critics rate 'Bama.

Duke, the likely winner of the Southern Conference, plays North Carolina State, while Southern California and UCLA, a couple of pretenders to the coast title, meet, respectively, Oregon State and Stanford.

Yale plays Cornell in the NCAA's television game of the week. It's also the top Ivy League contest. Best game on the Southwest Conference slate is Texas-Arkansas with the Longhorns favored, while in the Big 10 Illinois should beat Minnesota in the headliner.

Enos Slaughter Made 'Comeback-Of-Year'

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, veteran outfield star of the St. Louis Cardinals, was selected today as the player who made the greatest comeback of the 1952 baseball season.

The slugging country boy from North Carolina, generally regarded as one of the game's fiercest competitors, captured the Associated Press "Comeback-of-the-Year" award handsly, receiving 26 of the 61 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Easter Second
Thirteen other candidates were nominated but none proved any serious threat to the rollicking Redbird. Luke Easter of Cleveland came second with 11 votes.

It's easy to see why the experts voted for Slaughter, the original perpetual motion kid, who never walks when he can run to the nearest exit, or base.

The balding flycatcher was considered all washed up last April, after hitting a lowly .281 in 123 games in 1951. But he astounded the critics by not only participating in 140 contests but hitting at an even .300 clip. That was not all. The husky Carolinian, who will be 37 next April, batted in 101 runs and swatted 40 extra base hits including 11 home runs, 12 triples and 17 doubles. The Cardinals, off to a poor start, caught fire in mid-season and finished a strong third. They played the best ball in the league in the second half of the season.

principally because of Slaughter's hot bat that picked up 37 RBIs and seven home runs over the previous season.

Durable Enos became a Cardinal back in 1938 and has been a star ever since. Oldest regular in the major leagues, Slaughter still is the take charge guy of his club. His spirit, always fierce and flaming has not waned a bit despite his 15 years in the big leagues.

Goalie Sawchuck In First Shutout

(By The Associated Press)
Detroit netminder Terry Sawchuck, last year's Vezina Trophy winner, is serving notice he intends keeping the coveted National Hockey League goalie award.

The brilliant 21-year-old Red Wing goaltender, who blanked the opposition 12 times last season, turned in his first shutout of the young campaign last night, a 7-0 job over the league-leading Chicago Blackhawks. It was the first loss of the season for the Hawks following three straight wins and a tie.

Sport Shorties

The first Korean war veteran to play football at West Virginia University is freshman guard Ralph Jordan of McClellandtown, Pa.

Michigan State tackle Warren Spragg is co-holder of the college intramural doubles tumbling championship.

Joe Duff, West Virginia University basketball star in 1947-48-49, is now assistant professor of athletics at the U. S. Naval Academy.

San Jose State commenced playing football in 1898. Since that time the Spartans have met 76 different opponents.

Fabulous Willie Hoppe, Billiard Champ, Retires

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—The strain of tournament competition has done what no billiard expert could achieve in the last 46 years—make Willie Hoppe quit.

At the age of 65, the silvery-haired cue-master has announced his retirement from the tourney trail which he ruled with a catchless invincibility.

Thus, a sports era closes, locking in Hoppe as the last, of the great champions of the golden 20s that included Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones and Jack Dempsey.

He retires as sports' longest-reigning champion, a holder of a world's billiard title of one kind or another since 1906. With a collection of 51 championships, Hoppe has monopolized his field like no other sports figure in history.

He overwhelmed opponents of the balkline and angle with an outward mein of calculating coolness. But the tenseness with which the mild-mannered, well-groomed little man trained and competed vibrated within him.

It only began to show several years ago.

"A new, jumpy feeling swept over me," Hoppe explained. "And when I won the three-cushion title last March in San Francisco I got some spells with my heart. It palpitated. Sure, it scared me. Took a lot out of me."

White Sox Get Tommy Byrne In Trade Deal

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today traded infielder Willie Miranda and outfielder Hank Edwards to the St. Louis Browns for pitcher Tommy Byrne and infielder Joe De Maestri.

The Sox tabbed Byrne, a 7-14 performer for the Browns last season, as the "bargain" of the straight swap.

Young Heavyweight Takes On Bucerconi

NEW YORK (AP)—Husky Dave Davey aims for the 17th straight victory tonight and it's 2 to 1 he won't make it.

The 22-year-old rookie heavyweight from the Puyallup valley of Washington faces experienced, hard-hitting Danny Bucerconi of Philadelphia in a ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena which will be telecast nationally.

Lanky Danny has been made the favorite because of his ring savvy, punch and because he has met sterner opposition.

Davey's record is 22-1 with seven kayoes. He lost a six rounder to

Traffic Tangle Growing Worse

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — I am feeling pretty chipper today, because it looks like a solid cinch that I'll be dead in 315 years. I hope so, anyhow, for that is the year the statisticians tell us we will see the entire world as crowded as New York.

It will not be necessary to punish a sinful world by destroying it again by fire or flood or famine. All they need to make the old globe sorry it went and done it wrong is to keep that population expanding until it hits the present peak we enjoy in this metropolis of ease, grace and culture.

It could be my imagination, or maybe an encroaching ill temper, but it seems to me the city has been swelling at its seams in a more marked manner every day for the last four years. There are more cars on the crowded streets, more buses trailing end-to-end like elephants, more people double-and-triple parking, and more pressing crowds everywhere.

Navigating a simple sidewalk around the rush hours calls for a talent for broken-field walking that ought to earn any New Yorker a job with a professional football team. But walking is simpler than riding cabs in midtown Manhattan. In a taxi today you simply cannot get there from here, no matter where there or here is.

The Frowning Husbands
Everywhere I go seems to resemble a fire sale. People rush, and push, and scurry, and scurry. They jam the last sausage into the elevators. They throng the lobbies. They surge across the streets in defiance to the traffic lights, saving a few seconds and courting death—and for what?

If you walk the streets of the city today you see frowns and tight lips and black scowls. The pedestrians swear at the vehicles. The people in the vehicles cuss back at the pedestrians. There seems to be an undeclared war just waiting to ripen and bus, like a boil.

Autumn is the best time we have in the city. The air seems cleaner and sharper, like a fresh bite into a good, firm apple. The girls are certainly prettier, in their new fall clothes, with their stockings back on and the slipshod summer frocks tucked away again in the moth balls. The excitement of the series is over. The new shows are opening and the holiday warm-up parties have already begun.

But I have ridden and walked several hundred blocks since the first of October, looking for a smiling man, a happy woman, an idle stroller or a leisurely shop-looper. Haven't seen any so far. Even the dog walkers have an air of discontented concentration, as much as to say: hurry up and get it over with, Rover, so we can duck this crush and go hide in the house.

All Is Congestion
The zoos seem to provide the one exception. They are more crowded than usual, not so much with kids as with adults. The grownups spend an awful lot of time in front of the slothful lions, the sedate elephants, the ruminative antelopes. There are no vehicles to speak of inside the zoos—no stink of gas fumes, no cacophony of squawking horns, no bumper-to-bumper taxi jams. And in zoos people regain some vestige of politeness, out of deference to the animals. They don't push and shove so much, and walk along at a decelerated pace.

I conclude that the snap-pursed lips and the frowning brows and the fierce concentration on bustle come from overcrowding more than international tension or the raucous, nerve-edging clamor of an election year. Some of the tension seems to ease a little on the week ends, with a portion of folks still leaving town.

But whatever the cause of the irritation, I hope the world thinks twice before it progresses to the present congestion of the Island of Manhattan. The prospect of one big, round Broadway at 42nd, or Fifth Avenue at 57th, is too frightening to imagine.

You have not really seen a global war until you see the one that will pop up 315 years from now, when everyone is breathing on everybody else's neck, entangled in his neighbor's hair, and getting under his brother's skin. With the ground full of rolling traffic, the air clogged with planes, the sea jammed with vessels, and the globe a-prickle with people—man! We of New York have forested the future, and the ants in a hill will have it better.

REINFORCE
Is to strengthen, to back up something so that it may last longer. That best expresses the use of a new product that reinforces old linoleum so that it becomes tough and able to take it. It also brightens linoleum and does away with the drudgery of scrubbing and waxing. Who wouldn't want to reinforce most anything to get out of that job. You brush this new water clear product on your old linoleum about twice a year—the result a non-skid high lustre that seals out dirt. We recommend Glaxo that dries in about one hour and saves you many hours in time and effort in the upkeep of your home. Water clear Glaxo linoleum coating is available at The Fair Store Basement.

An Outsider Looks The City Over

Spotlight on
ESCANABA

Few cities of the size of Escanaba have more things to be proud of. They include the famous Ice Follies, Birds Eye Veneer, fishing, iron ore, a model municipal public recreational program, and the splendid generosity of its leading families in donations for the public good, particularly in education.

These and a lot of other things about the city are set forth in a full-page illustrated feature by Sentinel State Editor Max T. Nelson, which will appear in the Milwaukee Sentinel on Sunday, October 19. Everybody in the area will want to get a copy, to read it and preserve it.

Everything from the city's stream-lined and efficient municipal setup to the State Fair and the size and quality of the walleyes caught in its waters comes up for consideration in Nelson's lively, fact-packed article, which appears exclusively in the Sentinel. It's a "community portrait" with all the details filled in. Illustrations include photographs of outstanding citizens and landmarks, and an airview of the city with places of interest identified.

Don't miss this "Story of Escanaba" as it looks to an impartial outsider. It's studded with names of people and places you know!
